

January 4, 2012

To Whom it May Concern:

I would like to introduce John Phillips and refer him to your company for employment consideration.

Mr. Phillips recently passed the graphic artist for screen printing examination offered by American Screen Printing Association (ASPA) and has been awarded the ASPA Certificate of Achievement. He has demonstrated competency and knowledge of graphic arts for the field of screen printing and has achieved Certified Graphic Artist for Screen Printing (CGA-SP) status.

The graphic artist for screen printing examination offered by American Screen Printing Association covers many aspects of graphic arts that is necessary for the screen printing process. Passing the exam requires a broad range of knowledge of graphic arts relating to the screen printing craft.

The CGA-SP exam was developed by graphic artists with years of experience working in professional screen printing shops.

Please consider John Phillips for any graphic arts positions that you may have in your company. We believe that he could be an asset to your business.

Sincerely,

Linda A. Berda

Linda A. Berda, M.S.Ed.
Educational Director
American Screen Printing Association Inc.